Job Training Program to Be Expanded
The Job Opportunities in the Business Sector (JOBS) training program is being expanded to include all of Arkansas, Charles T. Meyer, Jr., Little Rock, chairman of the National Alliance of Businessmen for the state, announced today.

The JOBS program is an on-job training for disadvantaged and hard-core unemployed persons. Private employers are reimbursed for costs of training these persons to perform jobs in their businesses.

The National Alliance of Businessmen sponsors the program. The federal government, through the Department of Labor, provides the funds for its operation. The JOBS program has operated successfully in Little Rock for the past year, and because of its success it is being expanded statewide, Meyer said.

The expansion is effective immediately. In addition to training received on the job, participants in the JOBS program also receive other "supportive" services as needed, such as adult education, job counseling, transportation allowances, minor medical care, child care, etc.

"The community benefits from this program through the improved earning power of its disadvantaged residents," Meyer said.

"At the same time, employers benefit by being able to train workers to fill their jobs and in reducing turnover costs," he pointed out.

Any bona fide employer in Arkansas is eligible to participate in the JOBS program. Interested employers may contact the Hope Local office of the Employment Security Division.

The Employment Security Division office will arrange a meeting with a representative of the National Alliance of Businessmen to work out details.

Cool and carefree are the key words to describe the navy denim duo of mini-culottes and western jacket (left) from Mehari International. Culottes have slash pockets outlined in white stitching and jacket has buttons for show that conceal a handy zipper. Piquant bright red smock dress (right) from Ginori of Originals is in denim and Dacron. Long cuffline is accentuated with bright gold buttons also used on dress placket.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Desi Arnaz was the star of an NBC "Music Hall" hour Wednesday night, and old timers in the audience had 60 minutes of nostalgia for the good old days of Ricky and Lucy, Ethel and Fred.

In form, it was a variety hour, but the jokes relied on the long memories of the viewers for laughs as well as an affectionate relationship of almost 20 years with the Arnaz family.

The atmosphere was improved by the appearance of Vivian Vance, armed with the kind of dry, disillusioned wisecracks that made her the perfect foil during those "I Love Lucy" years. The atmosphere was so familiar, in fact, that this viewer half expected that Lucy herself might appear.

Desi, slimmed down since his occasional appearances on his "Mothers-in-Law" series, set the tone by observing how nice it was to be seen outside of a rerun.

The show was set up primarily to showcase the talents of the two Arnaz kids, Desi Jr. and Lucie. Desi Sr. played the fall guy, and came off very attractively indeed.

ABC, giving its "Room 222" a night off, presented a half-hour documentary which told, once again, of the old frontier West as it really was, not as glamorized by 1,001 nights of movies and television.

The most impressive portions of the brief treatment were reminiscences of two men and a woman who worked and lived in the wide open spaces in the good old days. They talked about the rough life in voices cracked with years but full of zest and vitality. These interviews were surrounded by some rather arty photography and stilted re-enactments, most of which looked like attempts by amateurs to make cigarette commercials.

The uninspired mood of this minidocumentary emphasizes the difficulty networks find in developing suitable material to fill half-hour schedule holes. When ABC starts a series of half-hour news specials on March 23 at 10:30 EST, following its two-hour movie period, it hopes to remedy this shortage.

The series will be called "Now," and will be produced by the network news department. The first three will concentrate in timely fashion on the workings of the Internal Revenue Service and pass along some money-saving tax suggestions.

A few "DON'Ts":
Don't sit there with your cold feet hanging out. Join his clubs, manage to meet him in the halls (but not obviously) and don't chicken out on a smile or a casual greeting. Study his hobbies so that you can ask intelligent questions. Offer to explain Chaucer if he gives you a needed boost in chemistry.

Always play up the relaxed claim, even though you're shaking inside. It's easier if you tell yourself he feels just as uncertain, and he probably does! Don't downgrade yourself. See your good points and work to make them better. Analyze your bad points, and you may find a few (like slowness) are actually "pluses" if you learn to use them well.

Don't be too eager. Males seldom like lasses who make the first passes. But a cheerful "Hello" is not a pass. Your shift to "Hi" can put you in gear. From there on, leave the driving to him.

Don't telephone him, except for an airtight reason. Don't "haunt" him!

Don't be too perfect. It scares males away. Likewise don't be too terribly funny. Boys prefer that you laugh at THEIR jokes. A big comedienne who "cuts on" people wins an audience, but often not a boy friend.

Don't broadcast your hopes. Some blabbermouth always tells. Now for the "DOs":
Make sure he's a possible dream. Why fall in love with a 25-year-old married teacher when you can take your choice of three nice guys your age? One of them just might turn out to be HIM.

Let him see that other fellows think you're nice. It's human nature to want what others appreciate and admire.

Be yourself always. That's easier, if you learn to really like yourself.

Have a "specialty" which sets you apart from others. It can be a "different" hobby, a flair for clothes, an unusual laugh (but don't go quite as far as Goldie Hawn)—anything to get you noticed, in the right way of course.

And always keep in mind that boys are scared too. It gives you courage!

Next week we'll give boys a word on how to catch and keep a girl.—H.

THE COMMONEST QUESTION
Dear Readers: By far my most-asked teen question is "How can I get this special guy (or girl) to like me? If only I had a sure-fire formula, I'd bottle (no pun intended) and market it and retire on my millions. Having no "Love Potion No. 9" available, I'll do my best with words—right out of my book TO TEENS, WITH LOVE, (Doubleday) which you can probably find at your local library. First, the word to girls:
The biggest asset in attracting a boy is "sparkle." This has been called everything from "IT" back in the twenties to "sexy" in the sixties. It is enthusiasm, humor, friendliness, warm all-girliness; a spot of mystery, a dash of innocence. It's "listenability," understanding his moods; a flair for making him feel important without feeling chased. It's looking your very best and KNOWING he'll notice—which gives a kind of expectancy to your smile. It's the self-confidence that comes when your mirror says, "You'll do!"
Girls who sparkle are not necessarily the most gorgeous creatures on campus, but they have one "plus" in common: An aura of "Come hither but not too far." Some have "IT" for all boys; they are the prom queens. Almost any girl can develop sparkle for ONE, so long as he is a reachable goal.

OCEAN SPRINGS, Missisippi—Illustrating the secrets of marine life, often in such minute detail as to require the use of a high powered microscope, is the job of Harry L. Moore Jr., staff illustrator at the Gulf Coast Research Laboratory. "Many of the sea creatures featured in the scientific articles written by the staff are so small that their characteristics do not lend themselves to photographic portrayal," Moore said. "In such cases only the human eye and human art can present an accurate picture."

In addition to supplying finished drawings, graphs, and charts for the scientific and technical staff at the lab, Mr. Moore also uses various photographic techniques which he learned during his period of study at the Armed Forces Institute of Technology in Washington, D.C. Recently he has been concerned with drawing maps showing the location of oyster depuration (purification) areas in Biloxi Bay and Mississippi Sound for the Microbiology Section, and with semi-diagrammatic delineations of spinal columns of microdesmids.

for the Ichthyology Section. This section is also studying the swimming motions of Gasterosteus longipennis, a small fish, and for this study Mr. Moore has already drawn hundreds of individual sketches in the same manner as the original animated drawings. "I have also produced a series of drawings of jawbones of several microdesmids for comparison and identification. This involves a much enlarged drawing. The jawbone under the microscope is usually 1/16" to 1/8" and the finished drawing will be from 12" to 16", stated Moore.

The Fisheries Section and Botany Section is completing an estuarine study for which he has done illustrations showing the transition from fresh water to salt water vegetation in the marsh areas. He has produced several maps of the Mississippi River Flood Control Areas for Dr. Gordon Gunter, the Director of the Laboratory. Mr. Moore continues to improve his techniques with the latest innovations in equipment for illustration purposes. Recently a representative from the Smithsonian Institution was visiting the Laboratory and observed Moore's use of shading film in drawing, a method not in general use for biological illustration. "He was impressed with the speed and ease with which a camera-ready drawing is produced," Moore said.

Mr. Moore has a varied and impressive background. After receiving his B.S. in Commercial Art from the University of Southern Mississippi, he became a designer for several engineering firms, one of which took him to Alaska. Astronaut to Quit After Trip to Moon

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — James A. Lovell Jr., whose 24 days in space are the world's record, says he'll hang up his space helmet after he commands the Apollo 13 moon-landing mission in April.

"There are a lot of people standing in line for flights," said the 40-year-old Navy captain who will be making his fourth trip into space. "I've had more than my share. So, I'll step aside after this one."

Lovell made the disclosure at an impromptu news conference Wednesday after he and civilian astronaut Fred W. Haise Jr. completed a three-hour session rehearsing their moon-walking chores.

Haise, a rookie spaceman, said, "I'm looking forward to this mission, I've invested a lot of time and training and I'd like to make more flights."

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lyle Moore Sr. of Hope.

With inflation getting worse and worse it is up to bridge players to find ways to economize. We suggest as a starter that they give up the luxury of drawing one too many rounds of trumps.

South was a spendthrift. He let the heart lead come around to his queen and played out his king of trumps. West took his ace and shifted to a low diamond. Dummy's queen was covered by East's king and South's ace.

Now South proceeded to play his queen of trumps and to lead another trump to dummy's jack. This last trump lead overextended his credit and led to bankruptcy in the form of one down.

He led a club to his 10. West won with the queen and led a second diamond to be ruffed by dummy's last trump. Now there was no way for South to avoid the loss of two more tricks.

South could well afford the trump lead at trick two. In fact, this was an essential precaution to guard against the possibility of heart ruffs as the hand might develop. He could also have afforded a second trump lead at trick three in the event that West ducked the first trump but West went right up with his ace in order to attack the diamond suit.

South was well within his budget when he led a second trump after taking his ace of diamonds but at that point it was up to him to go after the club suit while he still retained two trumps in dummy.

We will leave it to you to work out all the variations from that point on. Suffice to say that all of them will restrict the defense to a maximum of three tricks.

Electoral Reform Enters Carswell Case

By JOHN CHADWICK

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Electoral reform has become intertwined with the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell, but Chairman James O. Eastland said his Senate Judiciary Committee will untangle the two issues quickly.

"Both sides are in a trading position," the Mississippi Democrat said forecasting a break in the impasse that developed Tuesday after the committee ended hearings on Carswell's nomination.

The committee went into closed-session after hearing the final two witnesses and immediately bogged down in a dispute over when it would act on a proposed constitutional amendment for the election of the president by direct popular vote.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., chief Senate sponsor of the amendment, called for an agreement fixing a time for a vote on it before the committee acted on Carswell's nomination. Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., balked.

After the meeting, Sen. Mar. "hard-core liberals" led by "If there was any action in there, it was confusion."

But the committee did table, by a 9-6 vote, a motion by Sen.

Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., to invite Carswell to testify again to answer critics who accused him of a segregationist and anti-civil rights record.

The committee then unanimously voted to invite Carswell, now a judge on the 5th U.S. Court of Appeals, to file a rebuttal statement.

Thurmond accused Bayh of blocking committee action on Carswell's nomination by insisting on an agreement first to the proposed electoral reform approved by the House last September.

But Bayh said a threatened filibuster by Thurmond against the proposed constitutional amendment was the stumbling block. He moved in the committee to vote on Carswell next Monday and on the electoral reform proposal on April 14.

Thurmond countered with a tabling motion but lost 12-4. At a later news conference with Eastland, Sen. Roman L. Hruska of Nebraska, the top-ranking Republican on the committee, said he thought a vote on Carswell's nomination should have priority.

Hruska, noting the Supreme Court vacancy has existed since last May, said "it would only take 40 seconds to vote on Judge Carswell's nomination" while the proposed constitutional amendment will require extended debate within the committee.

Eastland said the way matters now stand, the direct election proposal is the pending business in the committee but

Some Capitol Hill Workers Have TB

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tuberculosis tests have been given to 500 Capitol Hill employees after two persons who worked at the Capitol died of the disease, authorities say.

Four other Capitol workers have been hospitalized with TB. Authorities said a waitress in a Senate restaurant and a laborer in the restaurant's storeroom died of the disease. One of those infected also worked in the restaurant.

The other three include a reporter in the House press gallery and employees in the sergeant-at-arms offices in the members can lay it aside at their next meeting and vote on Carswell's nomination.

Thurmond contended Tuesday low Cook, R-Ky., told newsmen, Bayh were trying to prevent Carswell's confirmation by the Senate. The South Carolina senator said the issues were separate matters that should be acted on separately.

The committee closed out its hearings over the protest of Joseph L. Rauh Jr., counsel for the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, that other witnesses should be given a chance to testify and that Carswell should be recalled.

House and Senate. The TB tests covered employees in the offices of the sergeant-at-arms and those working in House and Senate restaurants, said Dr. Vedat Oner, acting chief of the TB control division of the District of Columbia Health Department.

Nightstick Could End Hijacking

By VERN HAUGLAND

AP Aviation Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been given a preview of a new type of police nightstick that can detect a concealed gun, a razor blade or even a narcotics kit.

The device, and still another version of it, a flashlight model, are designed to supplement antihijacking weapons-detectors now in operation at a number of airports.

Congressmen got a look at the instruments during a showing at the House Judiciary Committee chamber this week.

"The equipment promises to make the law enforcement officer's job safer and easier, and will cost the taxpayer less," said Malcolm Schwartz, president of Infinitics, Inc., a Wilmington, Del., producer of electronic magnetic devices.

The equipment was developed and tested by the Federal Aviation Administration as part of its program to deter hijackings.

Eastern Air Lines last October became the first airline to put the system in use. Trans World Airlines adopted it last December, and Pan American World Airways joined the parade last month.

The antihijacking set consists first of two poles or towers which form a gate or entry way at airport ticket counters or boarding points.

When a person carrying a gun or other fairly large metal object passes between the poles, a light flashes an alarm.

The detectors can be on the hidden side of a wall, or concealed in sign-holders, guide fences or even in coat racks or umbrella stands.

A person who triggers an alarm is asked to step aside for a further check. Here an officer can point the sensor-equipped nightstick, cane or flashlight, at him to find the location of the metal object.

H. R. MacPherson, Infinitics project manager, said police departments of Wilmington, Del., Detroit, New York and other cities are evaluating the new device. The detectors were used at the entrance to the courtroom in the recent New Jersey Mafia hearings, he said.

They caught no one with concealed weapons except detectives or other persons authorized to use them, but turned up two persons who were trying to smuggle tape recorders into the room, he said.

Playoffs in 4-AA Bring Few Changes

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

In defense of the 4-AA football championship, the Hope Bobcats have an ambitious slate of 10 opponents for the 1970 season, as announced last week by Head Coach Ronnie Higgins.

Because of the state AA playoffs which will be instituted this fall, each school will revert to a 10-game regular season from September 4 through November 6. Then the regional playoffs will take place the following week, followed by the semifinals and finals through November 27.

Region 4-AA has been redivided for the next school year, and the East and West divisions are totally realigned. Smackover and Camden Lincoln will drop, but many of the old District 8-A schools are to compose the Eastern side, as shown below this year's Bobcat schedule.

Crossett returns to the Hope list of opponents as a 4-AA West game after a two-year absence. But the dilly will be the addition of the Sheridan Yellowjackets, perennially an unbeaten power of 3-AA and central Arkansas. Those who are dropped this year include NLR Oak Grove, Camden Lincoln, Smackover, and DeQueen.

Five Tied for Lead in Bob Hope Classic

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Golf Writer

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — The Bob Hope Classic, with its unique, often confusing format calls for a slightly different approach to golf, Arnold Palmer said.

"Well," Palmer said with a broad grin, "it requires a more liberal approach. If you can't concentrate, you sure shouldn't be playing in this tournament."

Palmer had a 68, four under par and one stroke off the lead Wednesday in the opening round of the only 90-hole event on the pro tour.

Veteran Bob Rosburg, Charles Coody, Labron Harris, Bruce Devlin and Larry Ziegler all had 67s to lead the closely bunched field.

Bobby Greenwood and Rod Funseth matched Palmer's 68. U.S. Open champion Orville Moody and Masters titleholder George Archer were among the dozen at 69. Lee Trevino and Pete Brown, the long-shot winner of last week's Andy Williams-San Diego Open, were in the big bunch at 70.

Defending champion Billy Casper had a 71. Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and British Open champ Tony Jacklin are not competing.

The 130 pros play one round on each of four courses with a different team of three amateurs each day for the first four days. Playing in foursomes, with three amateurs, it took almost five hours to play a round the first day.

Pistol Pete Keeps Piling Up Points

By TED MEIER
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was a basket barrage, no less, in college basketball.

Pistol Pete Maravich tossed in 52 points, Austin Carr and Ken Durrett each 44, John Roche 34 and Tom Daley and Andy Owens each 33.

Roche scored 30 points of his overall total in the second half as he rallied South Carolina to a 79-71 victory over Temple Wednesday night, the 15th in a row for the nationally second-ranked Gamecocks.

South Carolina was down 33-28 at halftime before Roche erupted after the intermission to turn the game around.

"Roche went to the basket more," explained Frank McGuire, South Carolina coach, after the contest which featured a doubleheader at the Palestra in Philadelphia. "If he had gone to the basket earlier he would have had 30 in the first half, too."

That would have given Roche a 60-point night compared to the 52 Maravich canned in leading Louisiana State to a 97-75 triumph over Florida at Gainesville.

Pistol Pete threw in 20 field goals and 12-of-16 free throws to up his all-time collegiate career scoring record to 3,088 points.

Carr got his 44 points for Notre Dame as he paced the Irish over St. Peter's 135-88 at South Bend. Durrett tallied his 44 for LaSalle as the Explorers humbled Lafayette 102-73 in the opener of the Philadelphia twin bill.

Daley collected his 33 for Penn State at University Park, Pa. where the Nittany Lions beat Syracuse 103-95. Owens got his 33 for Florida in the Gators' losing cause against LSU.

North Carolina State, No. 5 in The Associated Press poll, downed Maryland 64-54 at Raleigh for the Wolfpack's 16th victory against one defeat.

The Providence Friars upset 19th-ranked Villanova 54-44 on the shooting of Jim Larrange. He tied the score at 41-41 then put the Friars ahead to stay with another field goal. Altogether he tallied 18 points in the Friars' home court triumph.

Duquesne came from behind to beat Holy Cross 82-72 at Worcester paced by Mickey Davis' 25 points.

Virginia Tech shaded West Virginia 76-75, Louisville clicked over Memphis State 77-48, Duke beat Clemson 72-68, Georgia tripped Georgia Tech 74-69 and Ohio U. took Toledo 80-67.

St. John's of New York defeated Rhode Island 85-67 in the completion of Tuesday night's suspended game.

All-American Calvin Murphy, usually a high scorer, matched his season low of 22 points, as Niagara trounced Buffalo 98-68. Murphy ran into foul trouble and sat out most of the second half.

Among the small colleges Dave Auten broke loose for 43 points in leading Amherst over Springfield 105-98 in double overtime. Greg Hill and Mike White each got 39 for American International as AIC downed Hartford 118-101.

Brasher Going Back to Learn More Football

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Tommy Brasher, a linebacker with the Arkansas Razorbacks in the early 1960s, is going back to school to learn more about football.

Brasher, head football coach at Hot Springs High School the last four years, has been named to a fellowship coaching position to assist Wilson Matthews with the freshman football team at Arkansas.

"I'm going up there to learn some things you can't learn anywhere else," Brasher said Wednesday in an interview. "I can't think of a better place to go to do it."

In the process, Brasher plans to earn his master's degree in recreational work. Coaching, however, is his career, he says.

Southern Cal and Porks to Play 2 Games

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks have scheduled football games in 1972 and 1973 with Southern California, a matchup Razorback Frank Broyles says should be "a great attraction."

The match, announced jointly by the two football powers Wednesday, will be an 11th game for each team each year.

But Broyles said in an interview with The Associated Press that he could not promise that Arkansas will be able to schedule an 11th opponent for this fall and for 1971.

He said the Razorbacks had contacted four or five schools, but that it was difficult to obtain an opponent on short notice.

Southern Cal will play Arkansas in Little Rock's War Memorial Stadium Sept. 9, 1972, and the 1973 game will be in Los Angeles. Both will be night games and will open the season for each team.

"We're happy to schedule competition with USC, which has an outstanding athletic program," said Arkansas Athletic Director John Barnhill. "These should be good games of interest both to the people of Arkansas and California and nationally."

"We're very pleased to schedule the game," Broyles said in a telephone interview from Houston, Tex., where he is on a recruiting trip.

"We think it will be a great attraction for our Arkansas fans and be a trip for our squad to take to California. We'll be playing one of the great football teams in America year in and year out."

Broyles had hoped to schedule the Trojans for an 11th game this fall, but USC scheduled Alabama for 1970 and 1971 while Broyles awaited Southwest Conference approval of 11-game schedules. The National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics had given prior permission for teams to add an 11th game if their conferences approved.

Broyles said Arkansas had put out "feelers" to other schools as possible opponents for the Razorbacks this fall or for 1971. He would not name them, but he said he thought each would be an attractive opponent.

There has been much speculation that the Razorbacks were trying to schedule unbeaten Penn State to open the 1970 and 1971 seasons.

"I think it would be very premature to talk about that game period," Broyles said. "We haven't done anything but send out some feelers to various schools."

The coach would say only that it was a "possibility" that he could come up with an 11th opponent for the Razorbacks in the next two seasons.

"It's very hard to schedule in one year unless you're just lucky because of the short notice," he said.

The Southern Cal-Arkansas matchup will ease criticism that the Arkansas schedule had not been a true test of the Razorbacks because they face several lightweight opponents. It has been said that the Razorback schedule was designed to get Arkansas in fighting shape for the Southwest Conference season.

"That's the way it looked," Broyles said. "You look at what's convenient. But we thought we needed to get an interseasonal game."

Russell Is Pro Cager of Decade

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. (AP) — William F. Russell, the biggest Bill of the Boston Celtics, was duly appreciative—but not too amazed — that he had been named Basketball Player of the Decade in a special 1960-69 poll by The Associated Press.

And the key star and 1968-69 coach of a team that dominated the National Basketball Association in the decade just past, added a bit of typical Russell splotch to the award.

"There were only two dominating teams during that decade, the Green Bay Packers and the Celtics," he said. For the splotch, he added:

"I was offended when one television network named the New York Jets as the team of the decade."

"They couldn't just as well named the New York Jets. They were an expansion team, too, and they didn't win anything until the last year of the decade."

Russell's credentials are considerable.

The list started at McLymonds High School in Oakland, Calif., and began growing at the University of San Francisco where Russell, an All-American, helped the Dons win 60 straight games, still the all-time collegiate record.

He was also a pivotal player on the undefeated United States basketball team which won the gold medal at the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia.

The 6-foot-10 center joined the Celtics in 1957 as their No. 1 pick—a selection which would have gone to St. Louis were it not for the fact that the Hawks, fearing he might sign instead with the Harlem Globetrotters, traded their rights to

Thursday night at 7 Perry's will meet Burgerchef in the consolation game, in the second game Spring Hill will face New Boston for the crown.

Seattle Group Works Hard to Keep Pilots

SEATTLE (AP) — Edward S. Carlson, head of a group trying to keep the Seattle Pilots in this city, planned another meeting Thursday to try to get the team's financial problems ironed out.

He said he talked Wednesday with American League President Joe Cronin and William Daley of Cleveland, principal stockholder of the Pilots, advising them of what has taken place since last week's meeting in Oakland to consider the fate of the Seattle team.

The Oakland meeting was recessed until Friday to give Carlson and his group a chance to arrange financing to take over the Pilots franchise.

Carlson and several other leaders of the group spent Wednesday discussing with other business and civic figures the plan for acquiring the franchise. It calls partly for raising $750,000 in cash and $1.3 million in underwriting. In addition, a $3.5 million bank loan must be negotiated.

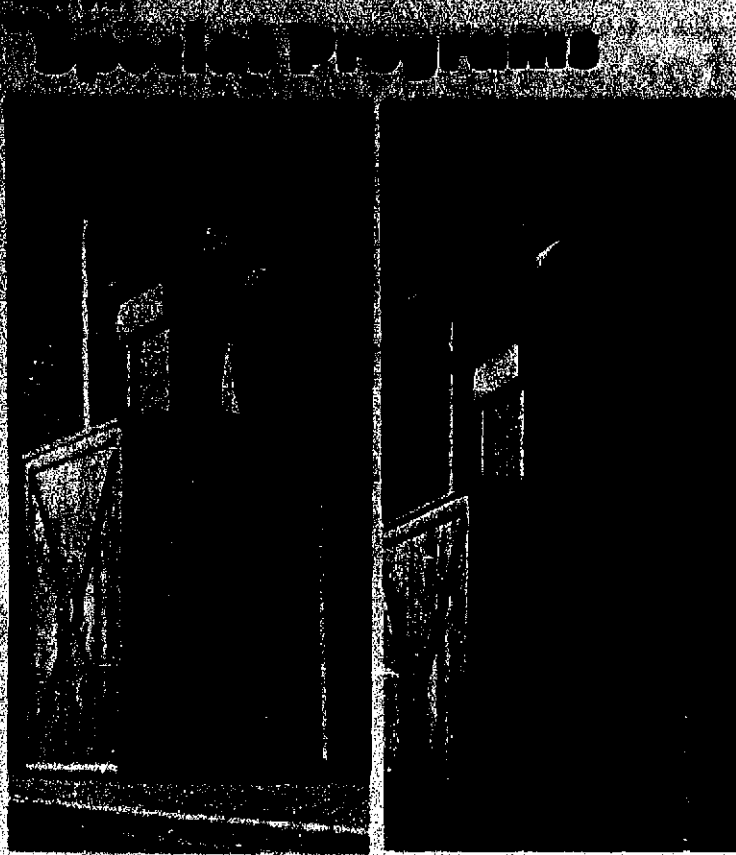

Carlson said he believes the loan by the Bank of California to Pacific Northwest Sports, Inc., the present owner of the club, may be "negotiable" if other phases of the problem are submitted.

Carlson said he talked Wednesday with W.B. "Bud" Campbell, vice president of the Bank of California.

TEEN-AGE THANKS
Editor The Star: During the past few weeks, I, along with Jimmy Alford, Becky Huff, and Kelly Eakley, have had the privilege of working with the Teen-Age Program (TAP) for the Hempstead County Chapter of March of Dimes. We did not try to undertake as many projects this year as we have in the past. The only ones were the annual bread sale and a paper drive.

We could never have done all the work ourselves. Many HHS students voluntarily gave up a free day to help in the fight against birth defects. I want to take this opportunity to thank them for their time and work and the public for their cooperation.

These projects would not have been successful were it not for Hope Star and KXAR. Most people know what the March of Dimes is and that the money they contribute is used for research to combat the heart-break of birth-defective children.

Thank you for your help. Sincerely,

Win Streaks Broken In NBA Cage Play

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
The accurate bombardment of Lou Hudson and Dave Bing exploded two nine-game winning streaks in the National Basketball Association.

Hudson, gunned in 36 points as the Atlanta Hawks trounced Eastern Division-leading New York 111-98 Wednesday night and snapped the Knicks' winning streak. It was the Knicks' worst beating of the season.

The victory also moved the Hawks into first place in the West by a half game over the Los Angeles Lakers, who had their victory string snapped, 125-109, by the Detroit Pistons as Bing fired in 40 points.

Milwaukee turned back San Diego 141-123 and Seattle topped Cincinnati 121-115 in other NBA games.

In the American Basketball Association, Pittsburgh nipped Miami 110-109, New York whipped Indiana 102-92 and New Orleans outlasted Los Angeles 111-109 in overtime.

Tied 76-76 early in the final quarter, the Hawks broke the game open by racing to a 92-79 lead with 6:20 left.

Hudson scored 10 points and Walt Hazzard got eight of his 27 in the quarter. Willis Reed led New York with 26 points. The loss left New York 6½ games ahead of second-place Milwaukee.

Bing pumped in 16 points in the fourth quarter as Detroit snapped a three-game losing streak. Otto Moore added 23 points for the Pistons. Keith Erickson scored 24 for the Lakers, who played without Elgin Baylor and Jerry West, out with injuries.

Milwaukee whipped San Diego for the sixth straight time this season, breaking the game open in the second period by outscoring the Rockets 36-20.

With Lew Alcindor on the bench in foul trouble with three personals, Bob Dandridge picked up the scoring slack in the stanza, collecting 15 of his 23 points as the Bucks built a 65-49 halftime bulge.

Flynn Robinson topped Milwaukee with 30 points while Elvin Hayes paced San Diego with 20.

Bob Rule threw in 30 points and Len Wilkens 24 as Seattle beat Cincinnati for the fourth time in as many meetings this season. Wilkens also made 11 assists to move into fourth place on the all-time NBA list with 5,008. Tom Van Arsdale was high for Cincinnati with 29 points.

Ex-Stars Will Manage Classic of Baseball

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Joe DiMaggio, the former Yankee Clipper, and Roy Campanella, former star catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, will manage in the East-West Major League Baseball Classic set for March 28 at Dodger Stadium.

DiMaggio will direct the Western Division stars and Campy will mastermind the East's moves, a spokesman for the sponsoring Southern Christian Leadership Conference said Wednesday.

The game, sanctioned by the major league clubs and players, will benefit the SCLC Foundation and the Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. Memorial Center under construction in Atlanta.

Brothers Are Back in Stock Car Racing

By BLOYS BRITT
AP Auto Racing Writer
DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The Wood brothers, Glen and Leonard, are quiet Virginians who smile a lot, say very little that is unimportant and build among the best stock racing cars in the world.

They were leaping for joy Wednesday. Their driver was back in the cockpit and showing his old form.

The Wood brothers and stocky, ex-football player Cale Yarborough have been among the most successful racing combinations around. They have won almost a quarter of a million dollars in two years.

But last December, in the final big race of the NASCAR Grand National season, Yarborough's car smashed the wall of the new Texas International Speedway at College Station and its driver was hospitalized, severely hurt.

Doctors in Texas and in Florence, S.C., near where Yarborough makes his home, despaired of his ever driving again.

Two weeks ago, however, Yarborough walked out of a clinic in Florence and announced he was ready to go racing. Even the Woods couldn't believe it.

Cale arrived in Daytona Beach shortly after noon Wednesday, bringing with him a medical release from his South Carolina doctor. He checked in at the track hospital, cleared inspection there and was sent to Halifax General Hospital in town for an orthopedic examination that included X-rays.

"We found him in excellent shape to go racing," said Dr. A. A. Monaco, chief of the track's medical staff.

And that was the reason the Wood brothers, not to mention Yarborough, were jumping for joy in the garage area where drivers and crews were preparing their cars for qualifying trials Sunday for Feb. 22's Daytona 500 pole positions.

Their relief, however, was even more boundless an hour later when Yarborough took the white and maroon Mercury No. 21 on the track and was clocked at a lap speed of 190.737 miles per hour—a record if it could have been declared official.

Yarborough's speed wasn't the best of Wednesday's first practice session for the big stock cars. Charlie Glotzbach turned a 2½ mile lap at 191.709 m.p.h., and Lee Roy Yarborough's Ford posted 191.542. Buddy Baker did 191.481 in a Dodge.

U.S. Provides Good News to Fish Farmers

By BILL SIMMONS
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Agriculture Department provided some good news for catfish farmers recently by promoting a pamphlet on the virtues of the catfish as a supermarket commodity.

Catfish farming began in Arkansas years ago and has spread into the states of Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma, Tennessee, the Carolinas, Florida and Alabama.

About 40,000 acres of ponds in 11 states now account for about 90 per cent of the nation's catfish farming, according to Olan W. Dillon Jr., a Soil Conservation Service biologist.

The Arkansas Game and Fish Commission, which has supervisory responsibility under game and fish management laws, says it has nearly 400 catfish-farming operations registered.

The current wholesale value of the national "crop" runs about $10.5 million, with about $8.5 million more produced from the rearing of bait minnows on fish farms.

The spiny, gloomy-looking creature, noted mostly for its appeal in the South, has been making inroads into the big-time food markets.

The Agriculture Department says the rising demand for meat, and a desire for meat to lower prices, enhances the appeal of the catfish as a good commodity throughout the country.

Alexander Gondek, an animal scientist for Merck & Co. of Rahway, N.J., predicts that consumer demand and prices for all kinds of meat will continue to rise. He says this will sweep catfish into prominence as a top food within 20 years.

By then, the per capita consumption of fresh-water fish will jump to about seven pounds per

Favorites in Skating Lose First Round

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — The favored team of Kenneth Shelley and Jojo Tarduck nipped the brother-sister duo of Mark and Melissa Militano Wednesday night in the compulsory part of the senior pairs event, as the four-day U.S. Figure Skating Championships got under way.

The first winner of Wednesday's opening day was Jull McKinstry. The Santa Rosa, Calif., teen-ager edged Miss Militano to pick up top honors in the junior ladies compulsory figures.

The final event of the day, the initial silver dance competition, was won by Gerald Lane and Mary Bonacci, of Boston. The silver dance skaters performed four dances, and the top four couples advanced to the final round which will be held Friday evening.

Preparing to skate later in the week are Tim Wood, reigning men's world champion, and Janet Lynn of Rockton, Ill., defending national ladies champion.

year, or about the average amount of turkey each American now eats.

"At present, catfish are mostly in the regional market," Dillon said at Fort Worth, Tex. "But we think gradually they will extend beyond the traditional zone."

He calls it "a famous industry."

The Agriculture Department has even issued a booklet explaining how to run a fish farm, which, says the booklet, can be more profitable per acre than wheat, cotton or corn.

A well-managed farm can produce about 1,200 pounds a year per acre, the booklet says.

A random sampling of prices in supermarkets in the Little Rock area showed frozen catfish commercially produced is priced at about $1.19 per pound.

Finds Living in Dormitory Helps Brain

By LEE LINDER
Associated Press Writer
UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Men and women honor students are living in a Pennsylvania State University dorm and learning it's better for their brains.

"It proves that smart people can help other smart people get smarter," says Dr. Robert W. Frank Jr., an English professor who is the project's faculty representative.

Fourteen men and 55 women — volunteers whose grades are all A's and B's — participate in the experiment in intellectual togetherness which began last fall. It's family-style togetherness that includes eating, discussing, studying, socializing and entertaining.

There are frequent guest speakers at the coed dorm, with topics ranging from drugs to civil rights to environment. And there are informal student-faculty mixers which Frank says are "head-filling and mind-stretching."

The dorm residents have organized a new class on the history of Western music, for which they get credit. And they plan two other new courses to be taught by teachers of their choice: one on the Czechoslovak political situation and the other on art.

"It is an example of students running on their own, and in the right direction, for learning," Frank says. "We're enthused that it works, and we're going to continue it."

The men sleep on the top floor of Irvin Hall, a former woman's residence on Penn State's main campus of 25,000 students. The girls live on floors below.

"The coed dorm is an important facet of academic life," says Judi Friedman, 19, a broadcasting junior from Redding, Conn. "Other more formal areas in school activities are sometimes frustrating, and you end up learning less."

Stuart Hammel, 21, a speech senior from Reading, Pa., who brainstormed the project and got the administration to give it a try, says, "The biggest thing is being able to interact with people of varied academic interests in a living, unstructured situation."

"It's the idea of having three girls, and three or four guys, able to sit down in the evening and discussing, for example,

Johnson Leads Statically

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Conny Johnson of State College of Arkansas continues to lead the AIC scoring race while Arkansas Tech's record-setting Paul Brown remains close behind.

Johnson's average is 25.6 points a game while Brown is scoring at a 23.1 clip, according to statistics released Wednesday.

Brown eclipsed Arkansas Tech's career scoring mark last week.

Tied for third in the scoring race are Danny Davis of Henderson and Billy Barnes of Southern State, each with a 17.7 average.

Barnes continues to lead the league's rebounders with a 12.1 average.

Barber 5 Back of Leaders

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Miller Barber of Texarkana shot an opening round 70 Wednesday in the $125,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic golf tournament. He trailed the five tournament leaders by three strokes going into today's round.

Dick Crawford of Bella Vista shot an 81 Wednesday.

Beebe Loses to Phillips Team

HELENA, Ark. (AP) — Phillips Junior College defeated Beebe Junior College 101-73 Wednesday night to clinch at least a tie for the Ozark-Junior College Conference title.

premarital sex," Hammel says.

"Don't get the notion we're a bunch of eggheads walking around in an academic fog," says Louise Evans, 19, an anthropology sophomore from Portage, Pa.

"I was looking for a higher level of maturity. There are no freshmen and very few sophomores here. This gives us an element of freedom and a chance to interchange ideas with both guys and girls. To me, guys being here helps clear the air. There's no tenseness. We live together in happiness."

Majority of Young People Favor Admitting Red China to the UN

"When you consider that Red China is a military threat to peace, that China and Russia could form an alliance and the United States attempts to resume diplomatic relations with Red China, I think that the time is appropriate to admit her into the United Nations," stated a UCLA freshman. "You just can't deny Red China's importance," she concluded.

Two-thirds (67 per cent) of young people recently polled by Gilbert Youth Research agreed that admission for Red China into the United Nations "was necessary" at this time. One-third (31 per cent) of the youths, however, would continue to vote against recognition of Red China in this manner, while 2 per cent of the respondents had no opinion regarding admission policies.

The assurance that Communist China would eventually be recognized as a member country held interest to those respondents between the ages of 19 and 25 years. Eighty-one per cent of this age group agreed that Red China should be admitted into the United Nations. This compared to 60 per cent of youths aged 14-18 years who agreed with their older peers.

"Because we do not agree with their (Red China's) political philosophy is not a valid reason for omitting them from a world organization—this is hypocritical," suggested a Michigan high school student. Forty-four per cent of those youths who favored the admission policy agreed that all countries, regardless of political beliefs, should be represented in the United Nations. "The whole purpose of the United Nations is to bring countries together to discuss their differences. You can't arbitrarily omit certain nations from joining," added another Midwest student. High school respondents, more than their college counterparts in the poll, favored this reason. Fifty-two per cent of high school students, as compared to 34 per cent college youths, listed equal representation in the United Nations by all countries as the reason for admitting Red China.

Red China stands as a world power both militarily and politically. Nearly one-third of the world's population lives within her borders, although her per capita income ranks as one of the lowest in the world. Recognition, according to 22 per cent of the young people, should be based on the fact that Red China is the third greatest power in the world today.

They indicated that by omitting Red China from the United Nations we are ignoring a potentially dangerous and powerful country. Male respondents in particular (26 per cent, compared to 17 per cent female respondents), showed interest for admission on this basis. The respondents aged 19-25 years also felt that the influence of Red China in the world arena warranted her recognition (35 per cent vs. 15 per cent of those aged 14-18 years).

Thirty-two per cent of those favoring admitting Red China looked to the United Nations to establish better understanding between the Communist and free countries. "We are not increasing our diplomatic relations with Red China by ignoring them in the United Nations," suggested a University of Arizona graduate student.

Another respondent offered: "Countries with different political views will not become allies but they should have the option of discussing issues, such as disarmament. Establishing better communications between countries via the United Nations, was held strongly by female respondents. Thirty-eight per cent of the female youths (compared to 27 per cent males) and 37 per cent high school students (compared to 26 per cent college respondents) credited the United Nations with bringing countries together in pursuit of better understanding.

Of those who did not feel that Red China should be admitted as a member of the United Nations, 43 per cent felt that admission would only create problems for the organization. This was based on their belief that because Red China does not want to achieve peace herself, she would do nothing to promote peaceful activities or negotiations within the United Nations. College students (56 per cent as compared to 41 per cent high school respondents) listed this as their reason for opposing Red China's admission. "I can't see where Red China would add anything to the U.N.; her admission would create more problems than it would solve," com-

Man Who Triggered C-5A Flak Fired

By MARY ELLEN RIDDLE
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—A. Ernest Fitzgerald was a good efficiency expert. So good the Air Force nominated him for most outstanding federal employee in 1967.

That was before Fitzgerald revealed the cost of building the 120 C-5A cargo planes the government ordered from Lockheed was going to cost about $2 billion more than the original estimate.

Now Fitzgerald is a good out-of-work efficiency expert. The Air Force abolished his $31,000-a-year job; the Air Force says it was an economy measure. Fitzgerald says the Air Force loses several times his annual salary "through the cracks."

He is a mild-mannered man who took the consequences of telling Congress about the cost overrun philosophically. While one secretary finished clearing out her desk and departed for the personnel office to find out what her new job would be, Fitzgerald adjusted his glasses—the kind with plastic rims that are dark on top and clear below—and explained he was surprised by the intensity of the attack launched on him after his testimony before a Senate committee.

"We had always won these little tussles before," he said, "but they wanted very badly to conceal this one."

Why?

Fitzgerald thinks his superiors at the Pentagon believed Lockheed was going to lose so much money on the C-5As that the company would go out of business. "The estimate is that Lockheed was $671 million over the ceiling at the completion of the first 58 planes."

The Air Force wrote a new contract including a repricing formula that Fitzgerald says was designed to bail out Lockheed. According to the formula, if the cost of the remaining 62 planes ran less than 10 per cent over the ceiling, the Air Force would pay back one-and-one-half times the loss. If the prices were more than 10 per cent above the ceiling, Lockheed would get back twice the amount from the Air Force.

"It's a reverse incentive," Fitzgerald said. "You can see that it would be better for Lockheed to be 11 per cent over than 9 per cent over. Of course, on the first groups of planes the overrun was nearly 40 per cent."

"We figured that with 33 more planes, Lockheed would offset the losses on the first run of planes. After that, the rest would be gravy."

That's what Fitzgerald told the congressional committee studying the defense budget.

"I caused some embarrassment by answering Sen. Proxmire's question truthfully," he said. The "embarrassment" caused a flurry of activity that reached all the way up to the Air Staff.

There was a memo outlining three ways Fitzgerald could be removed from his job—one being to abolish the position. Another memo was sent to Fitzgerald to inform him that he had been given the status of a career civil servant (who couldn't be fired) because of a computer error. Then he was taken off his job as the top man in cost control for major weapons systems and put in charge of figuring expenses for a servicemen's bowling alley in Thailand.

Rumors about Fitzgerald holding stock in a consulting firm that handles government contract accounts were widespread, Fitzgerald said. He was president of the firm until he took the Air Force job in 1965 but claims he sold all the stock, 30 per cent of the company, within a month after he took the job.

"I was even criticized for working late and driving an old car," he said wryly. "During the Johnson administration, I was accused of being a member of an ultra-right-wing conspiracy trying to destroy our defense system. Later, with the Republicans in office, I've been explained away as a member of a left-wing conspiracy trying to destroy our defense system."

The most damaging accusation, according to Fitzgerald, was that he had released confidential documents to congressmen. The charge was made by the secretary of the Air Force in May, 1969, but was retracted last November.

Despite intimations that the administration was looking for another job for Fitzgerald, he says he received no offers. So he is opening his own office in Washington and will return to private consulting. A lawsuit challenging the legality of Fitzgerald's dismissal and the investigation that preceded may be filed.

Fitzgerald's friends in Washington say his dismissal is another step toward closer congressional control over Pentagon spending. But the Defense Department reorganization that eliminated Fitzgerald's civilian job in the name of economy created a new office to be staffed by several Air Force members under the direction of Col. Frank Ayers.

Fitzgerald claims the whole group will be assigned to do his old job.

Renaissance of Jerusalem

RENAISSANCE OF JERUSALEM is bringing new vitality to Israel's capital city. Famed walls of the Old City are getting a face-lifting and landscaped gardens are planned for extensive adjacent area.

JERUSALEM WORKMEN painstakingly form building blocks out of native stone. By law, all construction in the city must be of stone. While it adds to building costs, the practice is partly responsible for giving Jerusalem its unique-looking character.

Surrounded by conflict, Israel continues to build and rebuild, looking hopefully to a future when tensions will abate. Jerusalem, the capital, is embarked on a revitalization that may rival the historic works of Solomon and Herod. These photos capture some of the flavor of renaissance Jerusalem, where

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The "Tweed Ring" of Tammany Hall abused political power in New York City while popular attention was diverted by the Civil War. In 1870, cartoons by Thomas Nast in "Harper's Weekly" aroused the public to the ring's corruption. The Ring embezzled an estimated $200 million before its chief members, William Tweed and Peter Seewy, were prosecuted.

To 9 Precincts—Thanks From County and The Star

Today's special election saw Hempstead county voters endorse the $450,000 bond issue to expand the plant of Standard Generator Co. and add 150 employees.

The vote was overwhelming—1,674 for, 92 against—but the important thing is that the bond proposal carried every one of the 32 precincts and the absenteees.

Writing prior to the election, your editor on Jan. 30 noted that in a 1962 bond vote which overwhelmingly favored a proposal for Delight Egg Co. there were nine precincts that voted against it. We expressed the thought it would be a nice thing if the county could present a united front this time. And the nine dissenting precincts of 1962 voted "yes" in 1970. Since we named all nine when they dissented we are returning their names and publishing their 1970 votes:

Warmer Air, Rain for Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Warmer weather, accompanied by rain, has once again returned to Arkansas.

Temperatures are expected to remain above the freezing mark for the next few days, the Weather Bureau said today.

The bureau said light precipitation should end in the northern section of the state by tonight, but a few light showers could develop in the south.

A weak upper air low pressure trough now over Arizona was expected to drift slowly eastward and may bring some light rain to southern sections of the state Saturday.

Highs Wednesday ranged from 42 at Jonesboro to 59 at Fort Smith.

Overnight lows included 33 at Fayetteville, 34 at Harrison, 35 at Jonesboro, 38 at Little Rock and Memphis, 43 at Fort Smith, and 43 at Pine Bluff and El Dorado.

Precipitation for the 24-hour period ending at 7 a.m. today included .06 of an inch at Jonesboro and a trace at Harrison and Memphis.

3 Indicted in Texarkana Kidnaping

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — A U.S. Grand Jury meeting in Hot Springs Wednesday returned three indictments each against five men who were arrested in connection with the Jan. 8 kidnaping of Karen Vick-ers, 16, of Texarkana.

The indictments charge the five with conspiracy to commit kidnaping, kidnaping and using interstate communications for the purpose of attempting to collect ransom.

Indicted were Johnnie Tashy, 21, of Lafayette County; Hugh M. Smith, 26, of Texarkana; and Paul Lawrence Bryant, 21, Joe Willie Feggett, 23, and Booker T. Burkhalter, 24, all of Dallas, Tex.

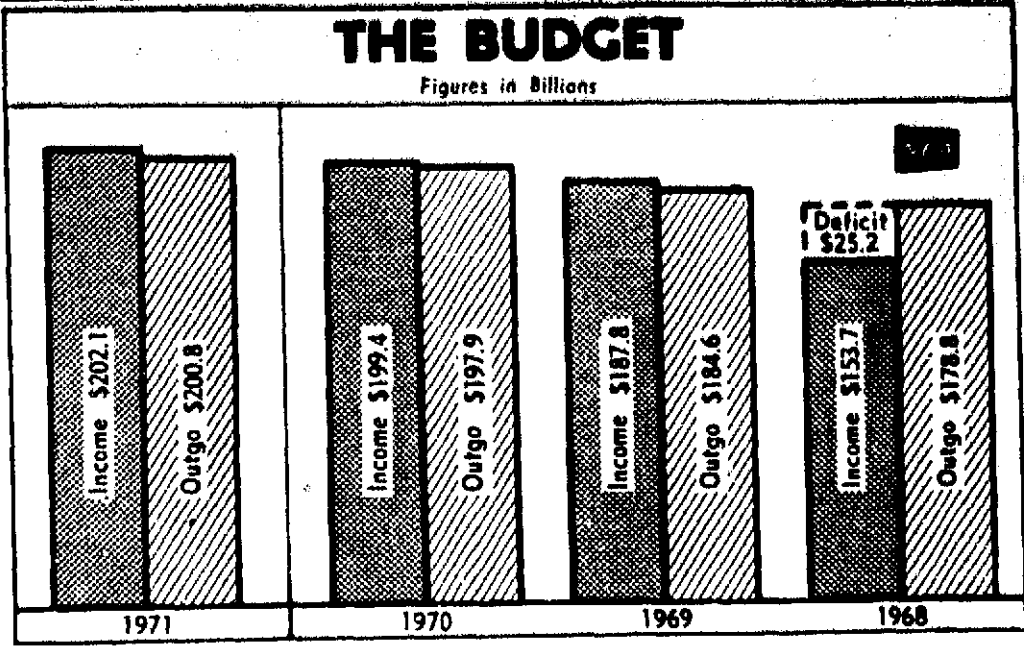

They are accused of kidnaping Miss Vickers from her home and holding her for 26 hours for $40,000 ransom. Miss Vickers was released unharmed. The ransom wasn't paid.

More Workers to Collect Tax

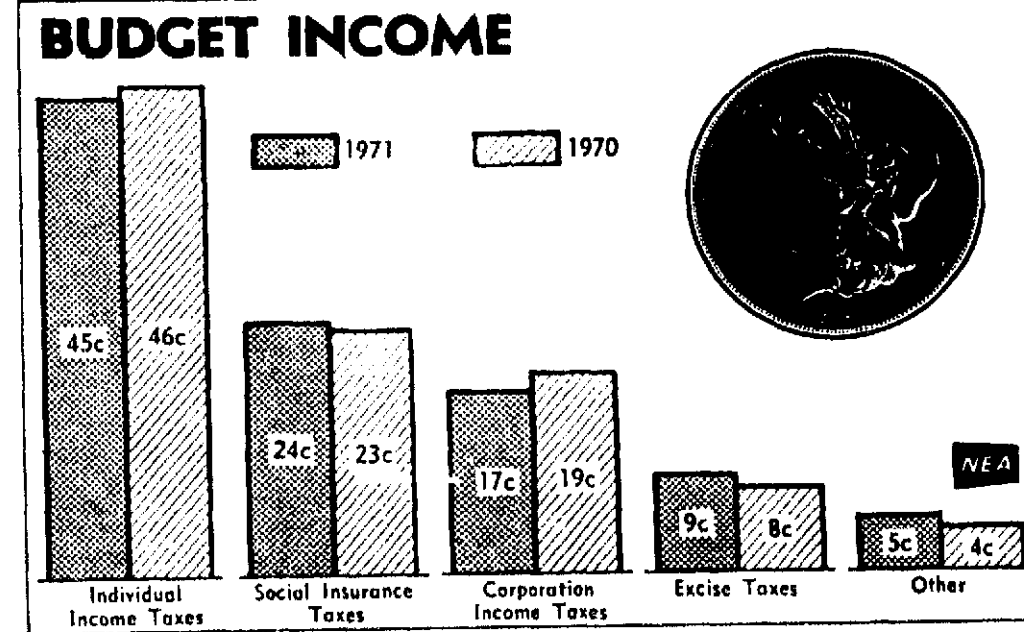

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State Revenue Commissioner Bob Scott said today that if Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's proposed tax program is approved, more personnel would be needed in the Revenue Department to take care of additional collection problems.

President Nixon's budget for fiscal 1971 (beginning next July) is the first to top $200 billion in the nation's history and, providing income and outgo hold to the forecasts, the third in succession to show a surplus.

The effect of the expiration of the income tax surcharge next June 30 and of other reductions included in tax reform legislation passed last year shows up in sources of federal income as anticipated in President Nixon's budget. Out of every dollar of budgeted income during fiscal 1971, 45 cents will come from individual income taxes, down one cent from last year. Corporation taxes also show a drop.

Ambulance Service to New Firm

A newly organized firm, Hempstead County Ambulance Service, officially took over all ambulance calls at 5 p.m. Wednesday, it was announced. The firm is operated by Perry Campbell, James Vess and Larry Moses.

It was organized following an announcement from two local funeral homes that they were discontinuing all ambulance service except for death calls. The Hempstead firm was awarded the franchise by a special committee of City, County and Hospital officials. Three other groups sought the franchise.

The City of Hope and Hempstead County will subsidize the new service monthly. New rates will be $20 to $25 with a mileage charge in addition for all out of City calls, Mr. Campbell said.

The new firm is starting out with two ambulances and possibly a third will be added soon. If you need an ambulance for illness or accidents the telephone number is 777-3334.

Actress Explains That Business Is Work and Not Just Glamorous

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — In her girlhood Edie Adams couldn't decide between a career in music or a career in fashion design.

So, typically, she tossed a coin — and show business won. Now and then she wonders if her life wouldn't be simpler if the coin had made the other decision.

"Show business is really geared more for men than for women," she remarked.

"A working father is one thing — a working mother quite another. There's no one to keep the home fires burning for women."

Edie, the breezy gal in those eight commercials on television, is one of the busiest performers in the entertainment industry.

She spends about 35 weeks a year singing in the nation's top supper clubs, and also is in steady demand for movies, television specials, and summer stock.

Nixon Trip to Dramatize His Concern

By KEN HARTNETT
Associated Press Writer
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — President Nixon is taking his Urban Affairs Council into the nation's heartland today in an unprecedented step intended to dramatize administration concern for the cities.

The President and council, including nine Cabinet-level members, scheduled an afternoon meeting here with a White House-selected delegation of nine mayors, seven of them Republicans.

Today's focus was on medium-sized cities rather than giants such as New York, Chicago and Los Angeles.

The President and his entourage go from here to Chicago for a Friday meeting with four Midwestern governors to discuss environmental problems.

The meeting here marks one of the few times since taking office that President Nixon has met directly with a delegation of mayors. The President's last such meeting was nine months ago.

It is also the first time a session of the Urban Affairs Council has been held outside Washington.

The meeting comes at a time when criticism of the administration's urban policies, particularly from big-city Democratic mayors, is growing increasingly sharp.

Just last week the executive committee of the U.S. Conference of Mayors accused the administration of departing "from the moral commitments of two decades" in cutting back on ur-

School Tax Voting Sites Announced

Hempstead County Board of Election Commissioners met Wednesday night and established the following voting precincts and voting boxes to be used in the Hope School District 1-A election to be held Tuesday, March 10, 1970:

Hope Fire Station, Box 1-A; James Motor Company, Box 1-B; Box 1-C, Rocky Mound and Shover Springs; Jones Field House, Box 1-D and Box 6; Hempstead County Courthouse, Box 2-A, Box 2-B and Guernsey; Hope Youth Center, Box 4-A and Box 4-B; Hope City Hall, Ward 3 and Box 5; Fulton Library, Fulton.

The commissioners urge all qualified voters in Hope School District 1-A to clip and retain this notice in order to avoid confusion on election day.

College Plans An Extension Course Here

ARKADELPHIA, Ark. — An organizational meeting for college extension courses to be offered in Hope by Henderson State College will be held Tuesday, Feb. 10, Stephen B. Williams, vice president for public affairs, announced Wednesday.

The meeting is slated for 7 p.m. in the conference room of the Hope Public School Administration Building (old post office building).

The primary purpose of the meeting is to determine one or more education courses to be offered by extension for teachers in Hope and the surrounding area.

The courses will be open to all persons desiring to acquire education hours at either elementary or secondary level.

$4,677 Taken by Burglars

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Burglars, using tools taken from a Girl Scout storage shed, entered the Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Association in Jonesboro Wednesday night and took $4,677.

Police said the Girl Scout tool shed was located behind the association office.

Opposition to Force Another Delay in the Voting on Carswell

Convention Drops Voting Age to 18

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Constitutional Convention voted Wednesday to authorize the legislature to reduce the voting age in Arkansas to as low as 18.

The 58-30 vote on the proposal came after debate on whether 18 year olds were old enough to accept the responsibility of voting.

"If you don't get participation through the ballot, you get participation in other ways," argued Delegate Hank Haines of Fayetteville. "These young people are not down on the farm any more. They're in the mainstream of life."

Arguing that youths were no better informed because of television, Delegate Norman Warnock of Camden claimed, "The youth of America has been fed one dose after another of leftists. The violence on the screen has been carried into the streets."

Warnock later told newsmen that he believed "inter-racial" overtones of such shows as Julia, Room 222 and Mod Squad—all of which have blacks playing leading roles—were a bad influence on youth.

The current legal voting age limit in Arkansas is 21. The limit is in the 1874 Constitution and cannot be changed except by constitutional amendment.

The provision approved Wednesday would permit the legislature to lower it to any age between 18 and 21.

The delegates defeated a proposal that would have set the voting age to 19 without legislative action. The vote was 34-54.

Delegate Dorothy Stuck of Marked Tree told the convention that by permitting the legislature to lower the voting age to 18 the delegates would have taken the first step toward "mutual respect" between generations.

Delegate Robert Harvey of Swifton strongly opposed the provision.

"I'm convinced that if you put this in the constitution, you're going to lose votes," he said.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic Sen. Joseph D. Tydings says he will force a delay of at least a week in Senate Judiciary Committee voting on the Supreme Court nomination of Judge G. Harrold Carswell. Meanwhile, Sen. Charles E. Goodell indicated he will be the first Republican senator to announce opposition to the nominee.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — President Nixon meets with nine mayors of medium-sized cities today to discuss environmental problems. Nixon's Urban Affairs Council, which has nine Cabinet-level members, will attend.

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Jonesboro officials have been advised that Texas International Airlines had canceled its stop at Jonesboro on the night flight from Little Rock to Memphis.

U.S. Planes Hit Enemy Missile Sites

By GEORGE ESPEY
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers attacked SAM missile sites and antiaircraft guns in North Vietnam Monday for the second time in less than a week, the U.S. Command announced tonight.

No American aircraft were hit, the command said. In the encounter on Jan. 28, an F4D fighter-bomber and a rescue helicopter were shot down and eight Americans were missing.

The Americans disclosed the air activity over North Vietnam shortly after allied forces halted offensive operations for a 24-hour cease-fire for Tet, the Vietnamese lunar new year celebration. The allied truce began 11 hours after a four-day cease-fire proclaimed by the Viet Cong.

The U.S. Command said the circumstances of the attacks on the North Vietnamese batteries Monday were the same as those the previous week: The North Vietnamese fired on American reconnaissance planes over the North.

The attack Monday occurred "over North Vietnam near the Laotian border in the Ban Karai Pass area 30 miles west-southwest of Dong Hoi," the command said. This is about 20 miles north of the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

On Wednesday North Vietnam charged that waves of U.S. jet planes repeatedly attacked a number of populated areas on Monday in Quang Binh Province, the same province where the U.S. Command reported the attack on the antiaircraft sites.

Similarly, after the attacks on Jan. 28, the North Vietnamese charged that the U.S. planes had bombed and strafed populated places.

When the United States announced suspension of the bombing of North Vietnam on Nov. 1, 1968, it said that reconnaissance flights would continue over the North and that fighter-bombers would accompany the photo jets to protect them.

The U.S. Command has said it reports U.S. retaliatory attacks on North Vietnamese territory only when they are considered "significant," and heretofore the only attacks considered significant have been ones in which American planes were lost.

Since the bombing halt over North Vietnam, there have been more than 50 American retaliatory air attacks in North Vietnam, but less than a fourth of these have been made public by the U.S. Command.

Nine U.S. aircraft have been shot down over North Vietnam in the 15 months since former President Lyndon B. Johnson halted the bombing.

There was no immediate explanation why the command made its announcement today since no planes were lost.

American B52 raids were suspended across South Vietnam tonight as part of the Tet cease-fire. But informants said the big bombers increased their raids on North Vietnamese supply depots in Laos just across from the A Shau Valley.

Blast Laid to Mental Patient

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Shaker Heights police said today that a 21-year-old former mental patient apparently blew up the suburb's municipal building Monday night and accidentally killed himself in the same blast.

Police Chief Carl Longstreet said the man, Martin Berns of Shaker Heights, was apparently killed when an explosive device he was carrying went off prematurely. The blast leveled most of the 11-year-old two-story municipal building, injuring 15 persons.

Police said that minutes before the explosion, Berns shot and wounded Dr. Irving Rosen a psychiatrist who had treated him. They theorized that Berns went directly to the nearby municipal building after the shooting.

Longstreet said hair fragments found in the wreckage of the $850,000 brick building were being compared to hair taken from a brush in Berns' house.
